

Highfields Primary School Policy on Communications

Policy on Communications

(see also Use of Photographic and Video Images)

1 Introduction

- 1.1 Schools have many lines of communication to maintain: with parents and carers, with other schools, with the community, with outside agencies, and within the school. Good communication between the school and the home is essential, and children achieve more when schools and parents/carers work together. Parents and carers can naturally help more if they know what the school is trying to achieve.

2 Aims and objectives

- 2.1 In our school, we aim to have clear and effective communications with all parents and carers and with the wider community. Effective communications enable us to share our aims and values, through keeping parents and carers well informed about school life. This reinforces the important role that parents and carers play in supporting the school.
- 2.2 We have various strategies for communicating with parents and carers. Some of our communications are in accordance with a statutory requirement, while others simply reflect what we believe is important for our school.
- 2.3 We try to make our written communications as accessible and inclusive as possible. We use an easy-to-read font, and add pictures wherever appropriate. We seek to avoid bias, stereotyping or any form of racial discrimination. We wish to recognise and celebrate the contributions made to our society by all the cultural groups represented in our school.

3 Home-school agreement

- 3.1 Our home-school agreement has been in place since September 1999. It is a requirement of the School Standards and Framework Act 1998. It explains the school's aims and values, the school's responsibilities towards the children, the responsibilities of parents and carers, and what the school expects of the children. We ask parents and carers to sign this agreement when their child starts at our school, and to renew it each year.
- 3.2 The agreement covers the standard of education in our school, the ethos of the school, and our expectations regarding attendance, behaviour, and homework.

4 Annual written report to parents and carers: children's achievements

- 4.1 Every year, we provide a written report to each child's parents or carers on the child's progress in the various National Curriculum subjects. This report identifies areas of strength and areas for future development. In our school, we ask the children to comment on their own progress, and we ask parents and carers to make a similar comment. We also give children in Year 2 and Year 6 the details of their performance in the national tests/assessments, and details of national comparisons.
- 4.2 As well as receiving the annual written report, parents and carers meet their child's teacher each term for a private consultation. This gives them the opportunity to celebrate their child's successes, and to support their child in areas where there is a particular need for improvement. Parents and carers are able to see their child's work during these meetings.

We encourage parents and carers to contact the school if any issues arise regarding their child's progress or well-being.

- 4.3 When children have special educational needs, or if they are making less than the expected progress, we find it helpful to meet with parents and carers more regularly.
- 4.4 We welcome the presence of any other adult the parent wishes to invite to a school meeting to act as interpreter. We will also make any reasonable adjustments to our arrangements if this will enable a parent with a disability to participate fully in a meeting at our school, or to receive and understand a communication.

5 The School Performance Tables

- 5.1 The school performance tables include sections on the school's performance and are pre-populated with data supplied by the Department for Education. A link to this can be found on the school website.

6 School prospectus

- 6.1 There is no longer a requirement to publish a school prospectus. All the information you would have found in this previously is now found on the school website.

7 Public access to documents

- 7.1 The school makes a range of documentation available to parents and carers. We keep a master set in the school office, and we make a copy of this available on request. It contains minutes of governors' meetings, and all school policies, including those that the governing body are required to draw up in relation to the following matters: charging and remissions, sex education, health and safety, curriculum, performance management, admissions, and action planning following an inspection. It also contains a range of national and LA documentation.

8 Home-school communication

- 8.1 We post a weekly bulletin on our school website and e-mail a copy to parent's home e-mail addresses. We send a paper copy to parents and carers if requested. It contains general details of school events and activities. Parents and carers expect the bulletin, and appreciate the regularity of the contact. We send other letters of a general nature when necessary.
- 8.2 At the beginning of each Term, all teachers produce details of the work to be covered during the forthcoming Term for parents information. We invite parents and carers to support their child's work through a range of suggested activities to be shared with the child at home.
- 8.3 Children in all classes have a home-school diary/journal. This enables parents and carers to record a wide range of information that they wish to share regularly with the teacher. Teachers use the home-school diary to record homework assignments, and as a regular channel for communication with parents and carers.
- 8.4 The school encourages parents and carers to share any issues about their child at the earliest opportunity. Teachers see parents/carers immediately, if at all possible. Where this is not possible, the parent makes an appointment. We allow many parents and carers the opportunity to have a word with the teacher when they bring their children to school, or when they collect them after school.
- 8.5 If a child is absent from school, and we have had no indication of the reason, we contact a parent (by telephone, if possible) to find out the reason for the absence.
- 8.6 We also communicate information via e-mail and text where appropriate.

- 8.7 A plasma screen is situated in the entrance of the school to share information or advertise events.

9 Communication with other schools and outside agencies

- 9.1 Toward the end of their final term in Year 6, we pass on information about the children to their intended secondary schools. We try to give a view of the whole child, and we include their expected national test results, their strengths and weaknesses, their interests and responsibilities (e.g. library monitor, football captain, school council representative, school newspaper editor, playground buddy, etc.). There is also an electronic transfer of further information about the child, organised by the government. We may also send on several items of work.
- 9.2 We recognise that children have diverse needs, and we are supported by various agencies and groups of professionals who keep us informed on better ways to meet these needs, so that children may participate more fully. Support comes from medical services (such as speech and language therapy, occupational therapy and physiotherapy), from child development centres, from local doctors and specialists, and from school nurses. It also comes from various welfare-focused services, such as Educational Welfare, Social Services and Behaviour Intervention units.
- 9.3 We recognise that children have a fundamental right to be protected from harm, that their protection is a shared responsibility, and that our school should provide a safe and secure environment. We are the people most in contact with our children, and we are therefore in a unique position to identify and help abused children. So when any member of staff has concerns about a child, these will be passed on to the headteacher, who may share this information with the social services.
- 9.4 We hold information on pupils in our school, and from time to time we are required to pass some of this information to others for educational purposes. Details have been sent to parents and carers about the types of data we hold, why we hold that data, and who we may pass it on to. This is a requirement under the Data Protection Act 1998. Parents and carers have a right to view the information we hold, and we have contact details of the agencies to which our information is passed.

10 Communication within our school

- 10.1 So that we all know what is going on, there is a timetable in the staff room of the week's activities, and a whiteboard for the day's messages.
- 10.2 All our procedures are detailed in the Staff Handbook.
- 10.3 Written communications are delivered through pigeonholes or by e-mail.
- 10.4 Staff members' personal details will not be shared with other members of staff.

11 Electronic communication

- 11.1 We use the Internet and e-mail, and we have a school website.
- 11.2 All school members may communicate with others through the Internet. There are many benefits, but also a number of possible dangers. Rules for the use of the Internet are contained in our Safe Use of the Internet policy. Safeguards in our school include constant adult supervision, sites being filtered by our service provider, controlled links, and the use of child-friendly search engines.
- 11.3 The Internet may be used in lessons 'live' for lesson content and for interactive teaching programs.
- 11.4 Our school website provides information about the school, and an opportunity to celebrate children's work with the worldwide learning community.

- 11.5 Members of staff, classes as a whole, and individual older children will all have their own school-provided e-mail accounts.
- 11.6 Parents and carers are required to sign permission slips for their child to use the Internet in school. A record of those who do not have permission is held by each class teacher, and by the school office.

12 Use of photographs and names

- 12.1 Photographs are used in and around the school for many purposes, including About Me and other displays, records of practical work (e.g. art or technology projects), and records of important school events. There are also displays for instructing pupils in the use of digital cameras and camcorders.
- 12.2 We may use photographs of children or their work when communicating with parents/carers and the wider community, in newsletters, in the school prospectus, on the school website, or in the governors' report to parents and carers. The local or national press may on occasion publish photographs of children participating in events at school.
- 12.3 Parental permission must be obtained before using photographs of children or their work as detailed in 12.2 above. Parents and carers will want to know the policy of the press about name disclosure before giving permission for a photo to be used. Lists of those children for whom permission has NOT been given will be held by each class teacher, and by the school office.
- 12.4 Photographs will be checked to ensure that they are suitable (photos of children in swimwear would be unsuitable, as would individual and close-up shots).
- 12.5 Photographs used will not be captioned with children's names. Even on the school website, only children's first names will be used.

13 Twitter and the School App

- 13.1 The school uses Twitter and a downloadable app to share information and photos relating to school and our local community. Both the app and Twitter are regularly monitored to ensure that the content is appropriate and is in line with our ICT Use and data protection policies.

Monitoring and review

- 13.1 This policy will be regularly monitored, and will be reviewed every two years, or earlier if required.
